PRE-MARKET CHECKLIST

This daily checklist is designed for you to complete before your trading day starts as a way for you to measure what often seems intangible in trading: your emotional and psychological state.

By putting pen to paper before trade, you'll have data to analyze at the end of the day while reviewing the day's trades.

PRE-MARKET CHECKLIST

Answer the below questions based on your emotional and psychological state before you begin trading for the day. When completing the questions with a 1 to 10 scale, 1 is extremely poor and 10 is extremely well.

Date _____ Time _____

1. Have I eaten any food today? YES / NO
2. Did I adhere to my best premarket routine? YES / NO
3. In all honesty should I be trading today? YES / NO
4. Have I let go of my previous day/week/month's trading completely? YES / NO
5. On a scale of 1-10 how well did I sleep last night? _____
6. On a scale of 1-10 how confident do I feel? _____
7. On a scale of 1-10 how unattached do I feel? _____
8. On a scale of 1-10 how patient do I feel? _____
9. On a scale of 1-10 how decisive do I feel? _____
10. On a scale of 1-10 how much do I trust myself today? _____
11. On a scale of 1-10 how adventurous am I feeling today? _____
12. On a scale of 1-10 am I comparing myself to another trader/s today? _____
13. What outside of my trading is unresolved?

PRE-MARKET CHECKLIST

This checklist will be important to reference and reflect on at the end of every trading day. What areas do you feel you could improve on most? Just as you track your trading performance, you should be tracking your emotions and psychology. The key is to stay aware of how you show up every day, and to check in regularly throughout the day to see if you are coming to the market from a place of neutrality. If you are not neutral, your risk levels increase.
